

Joshua left his soccer bag on the public bus this morning when he came to school. He doesn't have his uniform, shoes, or ball ready for practice today. Coach told him last week that he'd sit out the next game if he forgot his materials again... SELF-MANAGEMENT SKILLS	In Joshua's Design class, he usually does not take initiative to start his work when it's given. He waits for guidance from the teacher before he starts. THINKING SKILLS
Joshua likes discussing the book he's reading in his English 9 class with his small group. He always has a lot to contribute, but he also makes sure to listen to the other people's ideas, too. When the group is asked to create a skit together, he will act as a leader, making sure everyone's ideas make it into the final skit. SOCIAL SKILLS	Joshua finds a lot of information on Wikipedia for his Citizenship paper, but he knows that it might not be reliable. So he decides to continue his search to locate more credible sources. He makes sure to analyze the information on each website to make sure he uses both accurate and valuable information. RESEARCH SKILLS
In Spanish class, Joshua writes well enough to hand work in without revising it. COMMUNICATION SKILLS	A new student joined Joshua's Biology class, and Joshua invited him to join his small group to work on a presentation that is due in two classes. Josh makes sure the new student feels welcome, and he suggests that the team uses Google Docs to develop the group's PowerPoint presentation since they can all access the work from their own homes over the weekend to collaborate. SOCIAL SKILLS
Again, in Spanish class, Joshua participates in class and group discussions when he is sure he knows the answer. COMMUNICATION SKILLS	Joshua does not have his thesis statement written on the day it is due in his English 9 class. His teacher has to talk to him about completing his work on time because this is his third missing assignment in this class. His Algebra teacher has the same conversation with him later in the day... SELF-MANAGEMENT SKILLS
Joshua does not start the bell work right away in any of his classes. He will eventually do the work, but his teachers must personally ask him to get started. THINKING SKILLS	Joshua makes sure to use a variety of resources when he writes a paper on what caused the Civil War for his Citizenship class. He uses information that contains many different perspectives to help him understand and draw his own conclusions about the conflict. RESEARCH SKILLS
